Time for a Fall Outing

October is the perfect month for being outside and with the welcome change to cooler, drier weather has some of us are thinking about setting out on a day trip. According to the Farmer's Almanac, peak fall foliage dates in Mississippi are October 19 to November 4. Following are two suggestions for road trips - easily completed in one day.

1. Natchez Trace to French Camp and on to Jeff Busby Park. Stop for a delicious lunch at French Camp then continue north to Jeff Busby Park at mile marker 193. Take the drive through the park and up Little Mountain. On a clear day you can see about 20 miles from the overlook on top. The Harvest Festival at French Camp will be held on Saturday, October 12 from 7AM-5PM. Always an interesting event.
2. A longer day trip would be to take the loop around Grenada Lake. This 50-mile route takes you through two state parks-Hugh White State Park and Carver

Point State Park. You can also see the historic truss bridge over the Yalobusha River in Grenada. There are several bluffs overlooking Grenada Lake where great photos can be taken.
